OPEN POSITION POSTING

June 16, 2026

Intervention Specialist
Full-time (35 hrs/wk, school year)
Seneca County School of Opportunity

Available for 2026-2027 School Year

Teaching at the School of Opportunity is a rewarding experience. Our school offers children with disabilities ages five through twenty-one comprehensive educational services structured to meet the academic, vocational, social, physical and emotional needs of the student. Classrooms are capped at 8 students, and each room has two full-time aides with additional 1-on-1 aides as needed.

Programming is designed to maximize each child's level of functioning in all areas of development, to strengthen access to community supports and to promote self-advocacy in our students and their families. As a teacher at the School of Opportunity you will join a team dedicated to the mission of improving the lives of students with disabilities.

We are currently recruiting an Intervention Specialist who will be responsible for establishing and maintaining a safe classroom environment conducive to learning.

JOB DUTIES INCLUDE*:

Job duties include: collaborating with team members to develop IEPs; designing programming and writing lesson plans based on concepts adapted from the general education curriculum; evaluating, assessing and documenting student performance; completing ETR reports, alternate assessments, and other reports as needed. This position will also supervise, direct, train and evaluate intervention assistants.

The successful candidate will support a positive culture and will collaborate with intervention specialists and other team members to create programming designed to address IEP goals, incorporate specialized curricular needs, and improve student skills in communication, self-confidence, socialization, functional living, vocational abilities, leisure pursuits, and community access.
